Amendment No. 1 to “Back to Shul” Plan
The Board continues to evaluate the state of the COVID-19 pandemic in an effort to relax the temple’s health and safety protocols where appropriate. The Board has adopted the following three changes, effective immediately:

1. Eliminate the need to pre-register for summer services through August 27. The other health and safety protocols set forth in the “Back to Shul” Plan (masks, signing in, spreading out, etc.) remain in effect for now. The in-person/live-stream hybrid services will occur on July 9 and 16, and August 6, 13, 20, and 27. Videos will be posted for the other weeks.

2. Open the temple library to members who make an advance appointment with Michelle Darr to visit during regular business hours. Visitors must still sign in and out of the building. They can take their masks off in the library if they are alone. The cleaning staff will be instructed to focus on the library after each visit.

3. Allow in-person b’nei mitzvah lessons on-site by appointment with Jackie Hutteman if the student is fully vaccinated (meaning two weeks past the second dose). The lessons will take place in the Lehrman Chapel, with the participants spread out at the long table in the back. The decision as to masks for each lesson will depend on the comfort level of Mrs. Hutteman, who is fully vaccinated, and the family involved. The cleaning staff will be instructed to focus on the chapel after each lesson.

4. Hold in-person Tot Shabbat programs outside in the rabbi’s backyard. Masks are not required if family units are spread out from each other. Prepackaged food will be provided. The programs will be offered according to the rabbi’s schedule, with the first program taking place on Saturday, July 31.

The Board will continue to re-evaluate and revise all temple policies that have been adopted during the pandemic as appropriate and notify the membership of those changes.

Approved by the Board of Trustees, June 24 & July 1, 2021
